Additional Information

The rearview camera may have been produced with a damaged printed circuit board (PCB), which can cause a rearview camera image display failure. An inoperative rearview camera reduces the driver's rearward visibility, increasing the risk of a crash or injury to bystanders. As such, the affected vehicles fail to comply with the requirements set forth in Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standard No. 111, "Rear Visibility."

You are receiving this email because our records indicate that you own or lease the vehicle identified by the VIN above.
