Chronology

Remote Vans, LLC is a final stage manufacturer of motorhomes. In September 2025, a vehicle owner raised an issue concerning the occupant and cargo carrying capacity on their vehicle. In response, Remote Vans' Compliance Team conducted a thorough analysis of the FMVSS and other regulatory requirements related to calculation of weights for vehicles manufactured in multiple stages. As a result of its analysis, Remote Vans identified that the GVWR could be exceeded if the vehicles were loaded with the maximum number of occupants. On October 27, 2025, Remote Vans determined that a noncompliance exists in the affected vehicles. Remote Vans LLC is not aware of any injuries or property damage related to this issue.

Part 573 Safety Recall Report

Description of Remedy

Remedy Type: Repair

Consumer Advisories: Do Not Drive Park Outside

Description of remedy program:

For 2025 Oasis owners, Remote Vans will remove the extended range fuel tank and install a standard fuel tank, reducing the Unloaded Vehicle Weight by approximately 174 pounds and will issue revised Occupant and Cargo Carrying Capacity labels (OCCC).

For 2025 Aegis owners, Remote Vans will remove the extended range fuel tank and install a standard fuel tank, as well as remove all skid plates and the OWL Vans Expedition Box, reducing the Unloaded Vehicle Weight by approximately 293 pounds and will issue revised Occupant and Cargo Carrying Capacity labels (OCCC).

These remedies will be provided free of charge. Customers who previously paid to have the noncompliance addressed should submit a request for reimbursement to Remote Vans LLC.

How remedy component differs from recalled component:

These remedies will reduce the Unloaded Vehicle Weight by approximately 174 pounds for Oasis Series vans, and by approximately 293 pounds for Aegis Series vans, so that GVWR is not exceeded when carrying the maximum number of occupants (4). New OCCC labels will be issued reflecting updated values.

Identify how/when recall condition was corrected in production:

The noncompliance impacts only model year 2025 Oasis and Aegis Series vehicles.
