Part 573 Safety Recall Report

26V506

The absence of a label identifying the lamp as an ABS malfunction indicator lamp may cause confusion among enforcement personnel regarding the function of the lamp (e.g., it could be mistaken for an amber side marker lamp), potentially hindering enforcement efforts. An increased risk to drivers, other road users, and enforcement personnel cannot be ruled out.

Description of the cause:

Due to a misreading of the customer-specific assembly instructions by manufacturing personnel, the ABS malfunction indicator lamp labels were incorrectly omitted.

Identification of any warning that can occur:

Inspection of the trailer during routine inspections required of motor carriers may identify the absence of an identification label for the ABS malfunction indicator lamp on the rear driver's side of the trailer.
