

Tech Tips

TT 90-12-07

Date: November 9, 2012

2011-2013 Jetta Sedan (Except GLI and Hybrid) – Alternative (Second) Speed Display

Alternative (or second) speed display is available to show the vehicle speed in units other than the units shown on the vehicle's speedometer. If the vehicle's speedometer shows mph, the alternative speed display will show a digital readout of the current vehicle speed in km/h. The alternative speed display is shown in place of the odometer reading only when the vehicle is moving. To activate the alternative speed display, use the following procedure.

- Start the engine.
- Press the  button 3 times. The odometer display in the instrument cluster will flash.
- Press the  button once. Instead of the odometer reading, "mph" or km/h" will be shown briefly to verify activation.

Use the same procedure to deactivate the alternative speed display