

November 2014

Dear General Motors Customer:

As the owner of a Buick Verano or Chevrolet Sonic, your satisfaction with our product is very important to us.

This letter is intended to make you aware that certain Buick Verano or Chevrolet Sonic vehicles may have a condition where some of the hood clinch joints may have been manufactured out of specification. These hood clinch joints secure the hood striker reinforcement plate to the inner hood panel. The long-term durability of the hood may be impacted by clinch joints that are not manufactured within specification. If a vehicle has this condition, the hood may squeak, rattle, and/or not properly close.

Do not take your vehicle to your GM dealer as a result of this letter unless you believe that your vehicle has the condition as described above.

What We Have Done: General Motors is providing owners with additional protection for the condition described above. If this condition occurs on your 2014 model year Chevrolet Sonic or Buick Verano within 10 years of the date your vehicle was originally placed in service or 150,000 miles (240,000 km), whichever occurs first, the condition will be repaired for you at no charge. Diagnosis or repair for conditions other than the condition described above is not covered under this special coverage program.

What You Should Do: If you believe that your vehicle has the condition described above, repairs and adjustments qualifying under this special coverage must be performed by a General Motors dealer. You may want to contact your GM dealer to find out how long they will need to have your vehicle so that you may schedule the appointment at a time that is convenient for you. This will also allow your dealer to order parts if they are not already in stock. Keep this letter with your other important glove box literature for future reference.

If you have any questions or need any assistance, just contact your dealer or the appropriate Customer Assistance Center at the number listed below.
