2009 - 2015	4Runner, FJ Cruiser, Land Cruiser, RAV4, Sequoia, Tacoma, Tundra

Introduction

The breather plug should be replaced during any differential/transfer case repairs to prevent possible repeat failures. The subsequent use of the original breather plug after a repair has been found to contribute to the failure of the differential/transfer case components. Replace the breather plug when replacing differential/transfer case components.

Repair Procedure

When diagnosing the vehicle's condition, please refer to the Repair Manual for the correct procedures.

When a repair requires the replacement of the differential/transfer case parts or components, ensure that a NEW breather plug is ordered and replaced as part of the repair.
