Condition	Some technicians may be performing a Pre-Delivery Inspection (PDI) on a new 1LE Camaro, equipped with RPO A1X or A1Y. On this vehicle, a 3 piece rear spoiler must be installed. Dealership personnel may have difficulty sourcing the adhesive called out in the instructions that is used to secure the smaller rear spoiler "winglets" to the quarter panels of the vehicle. The instructions list a DOW product called Betaseal U400 HV. Typically, this product, if it can be obtained, can only be found in cases of 10-12 tubes.
Cause	Dealership personnel may have difficulty sourcing the adhesive called out in the instructions.

Correction:

In addition to the DOW Betaseal, dealership technicians are also able to use a 3M product called Windo-Weld. It is a urethane product (PN 08609) that works well to adhere these wings to the vehicle.

Either adhesive is acceptable for this usage. The instructions shipped with the spoiler will be updated with this new information in the near future.

Note: Installation time for the wings is already included in the PDI time for this vehicle. No additional time is needed.
