Product Update: TLX 9-Speed Transmission Warmer

Dear

On some 2015–16 TLX vehicles, the automatic transmission fluid (ATF) warmer was improperly manufactured and may allow the engine coolant and ATF to mix. If the coolant and ATF mix, the engine and transmission may be damaged and require replacement.

What will Acura do?

Contact any authorized Acura dealer for an appointment to have your vehicle's ATF warmer inspected and, if necessary, replaced. This work will be done for FREE. Please plan to leave your vehicle at the dealer for at least a half a day to allow them flexibility in scheduling.

If the ATF warmer has already leaked, allowing the fluids to mix, the transmission will also be replaced. Additionally, further diagnosis will be needed, which may result in the replacement of the engine. The work will be done for FREE.

Lessor Information

Please forward a copy of this notice to the lessee.

What if you already had your vehicle repaired for these issues?

If you previously paid to have your vehicle repaired because of a leaking ATF warmer, you may be eligible for reimbursement, even if you no longer own the vehicle. Refer to the attached Instructions for Reimbursement form for eligibility requirements and the reimbursement procedure.
