InControl Touch
Pro phase 4
customer letter

JLRNA will be providing a communication to your retailers to be handed out to customers describing the new look of InControl Touch Pro after the phase 4 software update. The communication will provide photos of the changes to the menu screens and will be a great way to show your customers what the infotainment screen will look like after the update. There have been some delays in the publication and should be made available on or about 18C release. In the meantime continue to reinforce to your customers that once the update is performed it cannot be switched back.
