DESCRIPTION

Some vehicles may exhibit a Connectivity Master Unit (CMU), a BLUETOOTH® hands-free unit or text messaging related concerns.

REPAIR PROCEDURE

1. Verify customer concern.
2. Verify that the customer has provided the correct phone or device.
3. Confirm the device compatibility by web or smartphone.

	Go to:
By Web	infotainment.mazdahandsfree.com
By Smartphone	MyMazda app; press MAZDA CONNECT

NOTE:

- When checking compatibility, be aware that phones may be approved for some functions but not for others.
 - Scroll down to make sure there are no red X's in the compatibility list.
 - Check the phone model number; compatibility can vary by the phone company version.
4. Check MGSS Online (Mazda Service Support System) for related service bulletins and service alerts.
 5. If the steps above did not resolve the customer's concern, contact Mazda Hands-Free System Customer Care at (800) 430-0153 to review the concern further.

NOTE:

- If for any reason there was a mis-communication regarding the concern written on the RO, the Mazda Hands-Free System Customer Care representative can clarify it.
 - If Mazda Hands-Free System Customer Care has provided you an Authentication Number (case number), they have determined there could be a problem with the hands-free module or the CMU. However, a Authentication Number does not mean automatic module replacement. Proceed to next step.
6. Troubleshoot the vehicle according to the instruction on MGSS online (Body and Accessories > On-Board Diagnostics).
 - If the cause cannot be determined through MGSS online service information, contact the Mazda Technical Hotline at (888) 832-8477 for assistance and support.

NOTE:

- The Mazda Technical Assistance Hotline does not provide authorization for warranty or parts ordering.
 - Vehicles equipped with MAZDA CONNECT, upload the MAZDA CONNECT CMU Data to a USB drive and have it available to attach to Siebel prior to calling Hotline.
 - If it is determined that a replacement CMU or hands-free module is required, proceed to next step.
 - NOTE: Provide the Authentication Number to your parts dept. so they can order the part.
7. Replace the CMU or hands-free module according to MGSS online Removal/Installation instructions.
 8. Verify the repair.
