

Attached is a sample on how we connect the batteries. We always do it in “parallel” connection. So you need to make sure that all the red (positive) are in one side and the negative (white) are all on the other side.

