

LATEST VEHICLE CONCERN FIXES

| Automatic Emergency Braking Not Available in Instrument Pack                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 18MY – 19MY E-PACE, F-PACE, I-PACE, F-TYPE, XE, XF, XJ, Range Rover, RR Sport, RR Velar, RR Evoque, Discovery, Discovery Sport |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Customer Voice: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>– Automatic Emergency Braking not available.</li><li>– Forward alert not available.</li><li>– Emergency Lane Keeping not available.</li></ul> Technical Description: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>– Supplier manufacturing process error resulting in faulty hardware.</li><li>– DTC set in IPMA U3000-96 – Component Internal Failure.</li></ul> Status: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>– Supplier Permanent Corrective Action is completed on April 11th 2019.</li><li>– Parts stock is all clean.</li></ul> |                                            |

