Contents

A new heavy duty tapered bearing fan support has been released for use on all MidRange applications in place of the standard duty fan support.

Certain applications using ISB/C/L CM850, CM2150, CM2250, and CM2350 as well as QSB/C/L CM850 and CM2250 engines have seen an increased number of standard fan support bearing failures. The new heavy duty tapered bearing fan support is a bolt on replacement for the standard support. The heavy duty fan support is better suited for applications with increased failures of standard fan supports. Table 1 contains part numbers for the standard and heavy duty fan supports.
