

New Information

We will no longer offer Automatic Tire Chain options through our Custom Ops process. We will also permanently eliminate our factory installed automatic tire chain selections. This decision is based on low market demand that no longer supports the continued development of the technical requirements for a factory-installed solution.

OnSpot, supplier of automatic tire chains, can be contacted directly for dealer-installed selections for your customers. They will also be at our upcoming dealer meeting to help with questions about your needs.
