Issue Description

On the affected vehicles, the PTO shaft protection function in the all-wheel drive control unit was adjusted in the software to optimize the driving dynamics.

As a result, greater torque is available with a large steering angle.

In certain driving conditions (when parking or cornering), this can be perceived by the customer as a cracking noise on the front axle due to increased axial forces on the PTO shaft.

To prevent this from happening, the all-wheel drive control unit must be re-programmed using an updated data record.

Please arrange for this measure to be carried out as soon as possible on affected vehicles. As of the time of this posting, the repair is immediately available.

Before performing the campaign please determine if the SW version is at or above the campaign target software value by checking the extended identifications of the All-wheel drive control unit. If the software level of the All-wheel drive control unit is AT OR ABOVE the software in the table below, performing the campaign is NOT necessary. If the ve-
