Technicians may find during PDI that the oil level is below the full mark, but still within the hash marks on the engine oil dip stick.

Technical Background

All Volkswagen gasoline engines are filled to a specific volume before leaving the factory. This level may vary depending on the testing conditions but will always be within the allowable specification for engine protection.

Production Solution

Not applicable.

Service

When checking the engine oil level during PDI, ensure the oil level is within the oil level marks (B range in Figure 1) on the oil dip stick.

When checking the engine oil level, ensure the engine is at operating temperature, park the vehicle on a level surface to help prevent an incorrect oil level reading.

Switch off the engine and wait five minutes for the engine oil to flow back into the oil pan before checking the level.

If the oil level is within the B range, DO NOT add additional oil.
