NEWMAR EUROLOFT BED LIFT RETROFIT INSTRUCTIONS

Purpose

This document outlines the procedure for replacing the single-motor drive shaft with a dual-motor drive shaft.

Tools Required

- Cordless/Electric Drill or Screw Gun
- Appropriate Saw or Router
- Appropriate Drill/Drive Bits
- Tape Measure
- Support Stilts
- Various Sockets
- Various Wrenches
- 4mm Hex Wrench

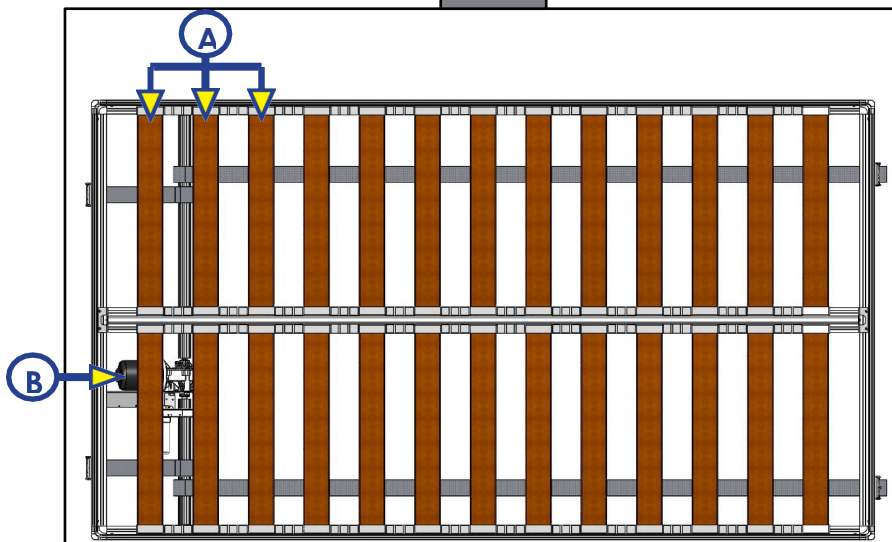

Procedure

1. Remove all bedding and the mattress to access the slats.
2. Adjust the driver's seat so it is at its lowest setting and lower the bed platform. Measure the height from the floor and record it so you can set it back at the same height when making final adjustments.
3. Place support stilts under each corner of the bed platform. Lower the bed platform so that it is resting on the stilts about 1-2" higher the lowest position to remove tension from the straps. Making two braces with 2x3 or 2x4 works well.

4. Remove the first group of three slats (Fig. 1A) from the side of the bed platform with the motor shaft assembly (Fig. 1B).

Fig. 1

5. Remove the nuts from the shaft mounting bracket (Fig. 2A).
NOTE: Repeat for the other shaft mounting bracket.
6. Remove the nuts from the motor mounting bracket (Fig. 3A).

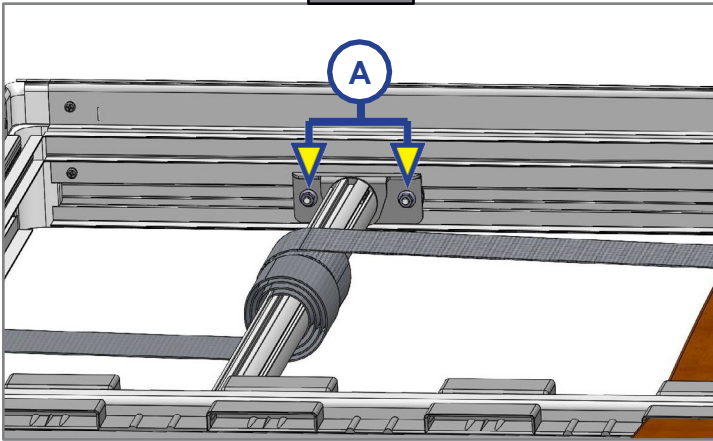

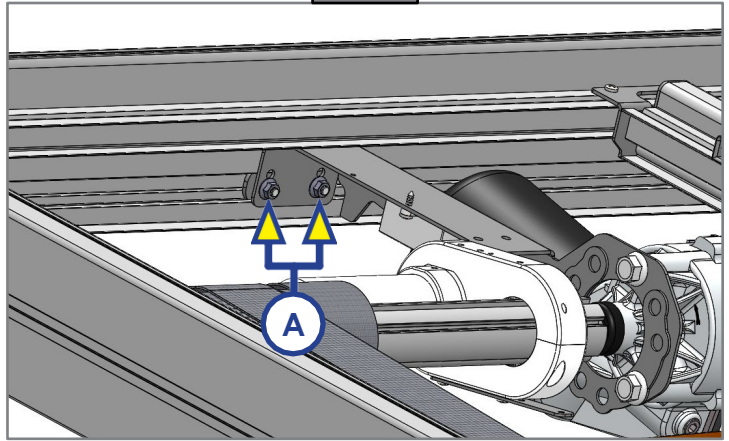

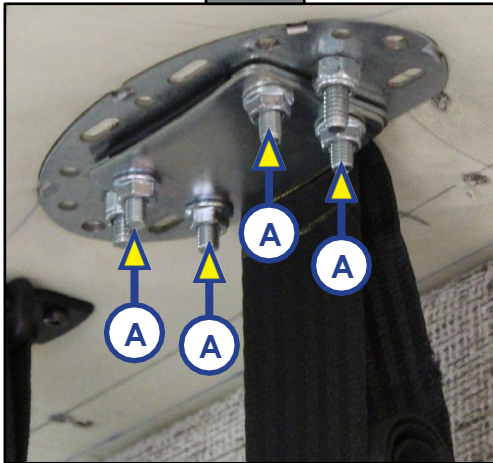

Fig. 3

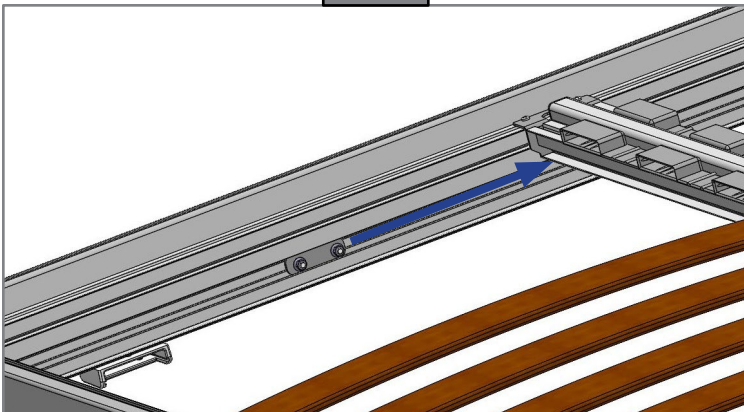

7. Remove the nuts from the four strap keepers on the ceiling (Fig. 4A).
8. Remove the tape from the end of the existing belt bunches if necessary.
9. Remove the single motor shaft assembly from the bed frame.

Fig. 4

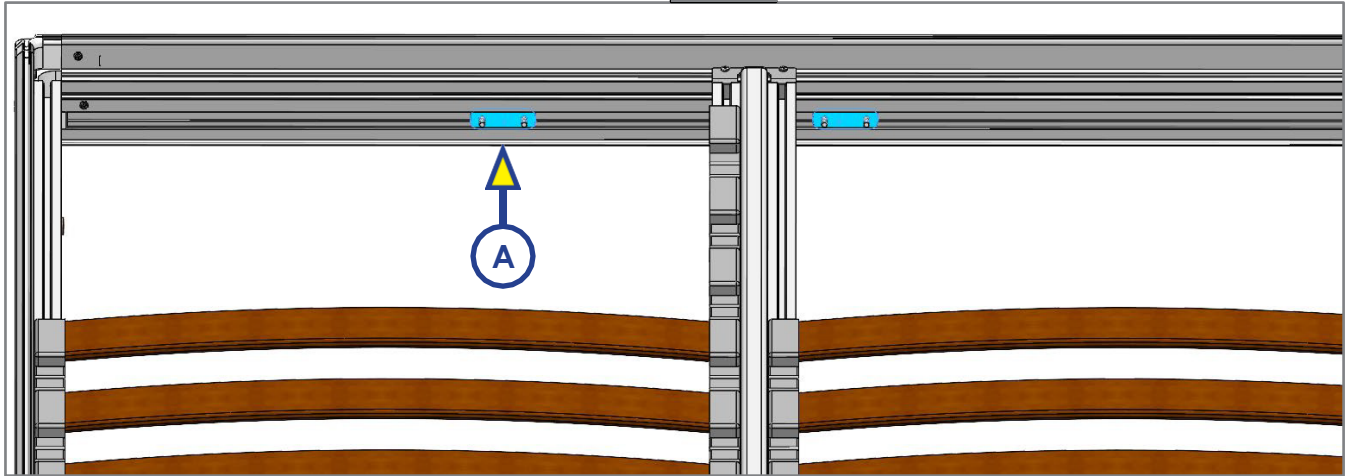

10. Slide the existing motor bracket over in the track (Fig. 5).

Fig. 5

11. Install the second motor bracket into the track (Fig. 6A).

Fig. 6

12. The bottom panel is notched out for one motor. Route out/cut out the bottom panel to provide accessibility to the second motor. See the print on the last page for cutout measurements.
Tip: Make sure the new motor cover will cover the area you plan to cut out prior to cutting the panel.
13. Install the new dual-motor shaft assembly (Fig. 7). The motor assembly comes apart between the two motors; it may be easier to put the back half in at an angle, then connect the pieces back together before proceeding to straighten between the frame.
Tip: You may also have to loosen the center brace and the aluminum backer for the cabinet to pry up the center brace to provide enough room to place the new motor shaft assemblies.
14. Install 8mm nuts on the motor and shaft stud plates (Fig 8A).

Fig. 7

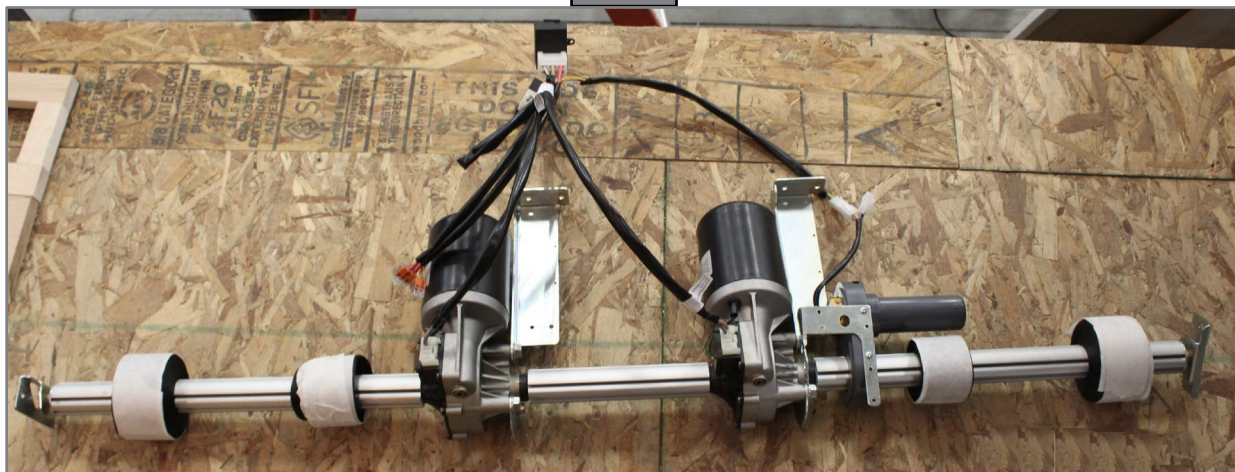

Fig. 8

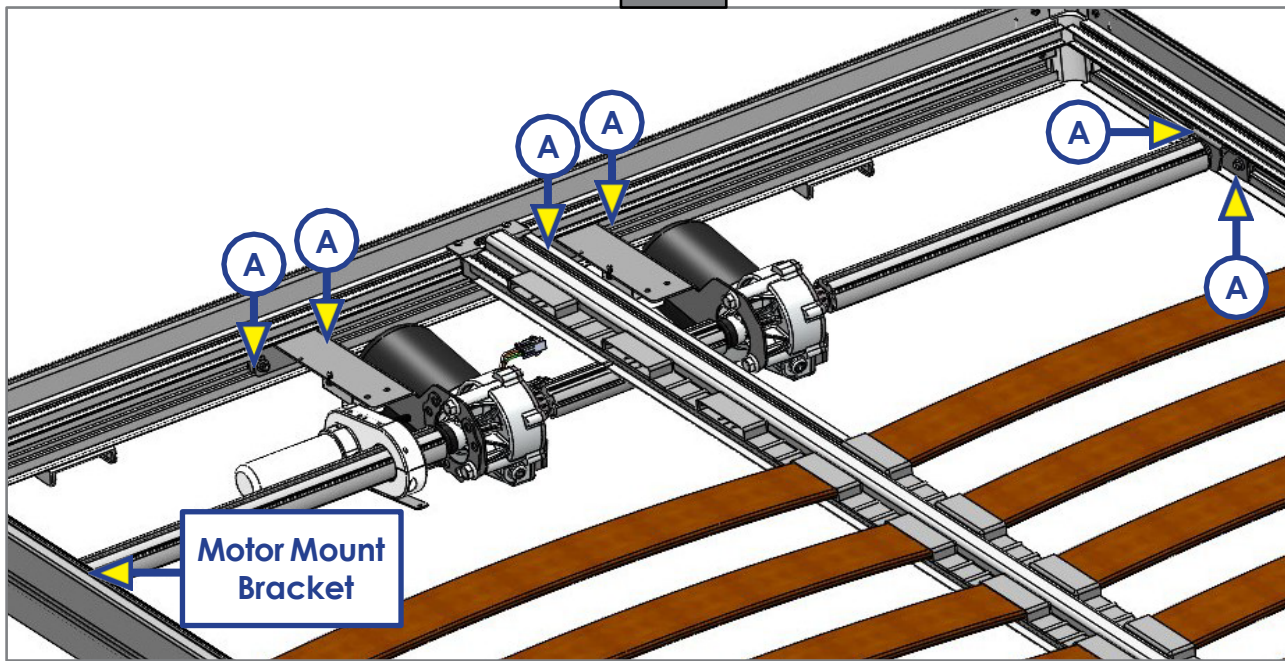

Fig. 9

15. Unwrap belts three full revolutions.
16. Measure at the end of each shaft to verify that the shaft is parallel to the side of the bed frame (Fig 9A).
17. Extend one belt up from the bed frame, ensuring the belt is not twisted and there is no slack in the belt.
18. Wrap the belt (Fig. 10C) over the top of the first belt plate (Fig. 10B). The belt extending up from the bed frame should be between the belt mounting bracket and the belt plate (Fig. 10A).
19. Place the belt plate and the belt onto the posts (Fig. 11B) of the belt mounting bracket.
20. Slide the second belt plate (Fig. 11A) onto the posts of the belt mounting bracket and against the belt.
21. Install the four previously removed M6 - 1.0 mm hex flange nuts (Fig. 12A) onto the belt mounting bracket posts. Tighten the nuts to 10 ft-lbs.
22. Replace the belt mounting bracket cover (Fig. 13A) over the top of the belt mounting bracket (Fig. 13B).
23. Repeat steps 17-22 for the remaining belts.

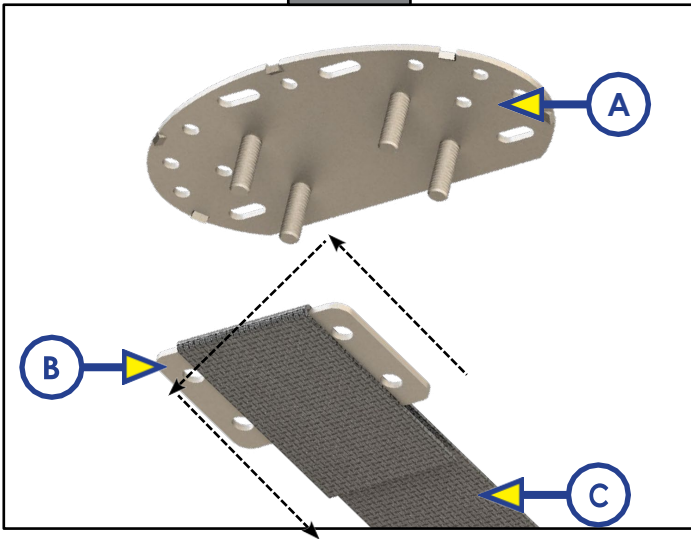

Fig. 11

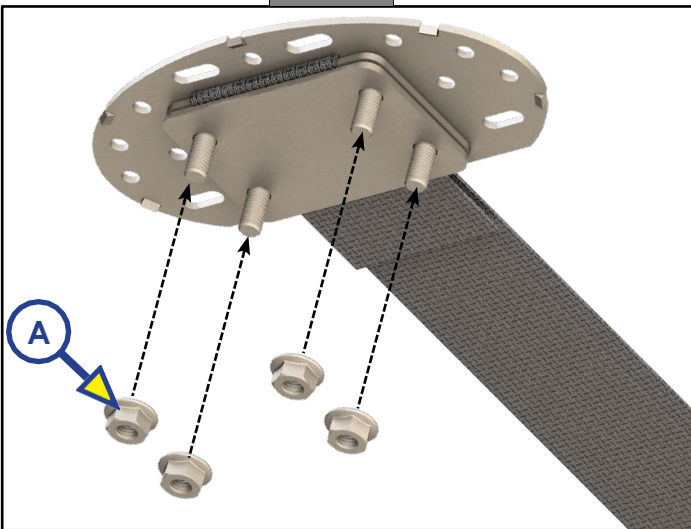

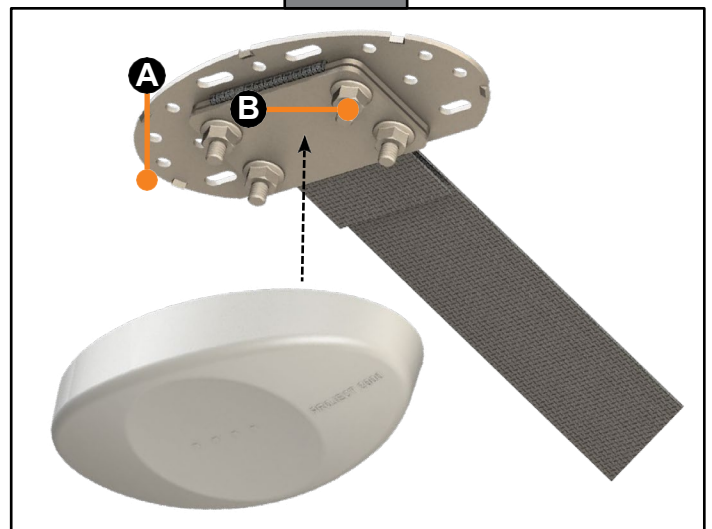

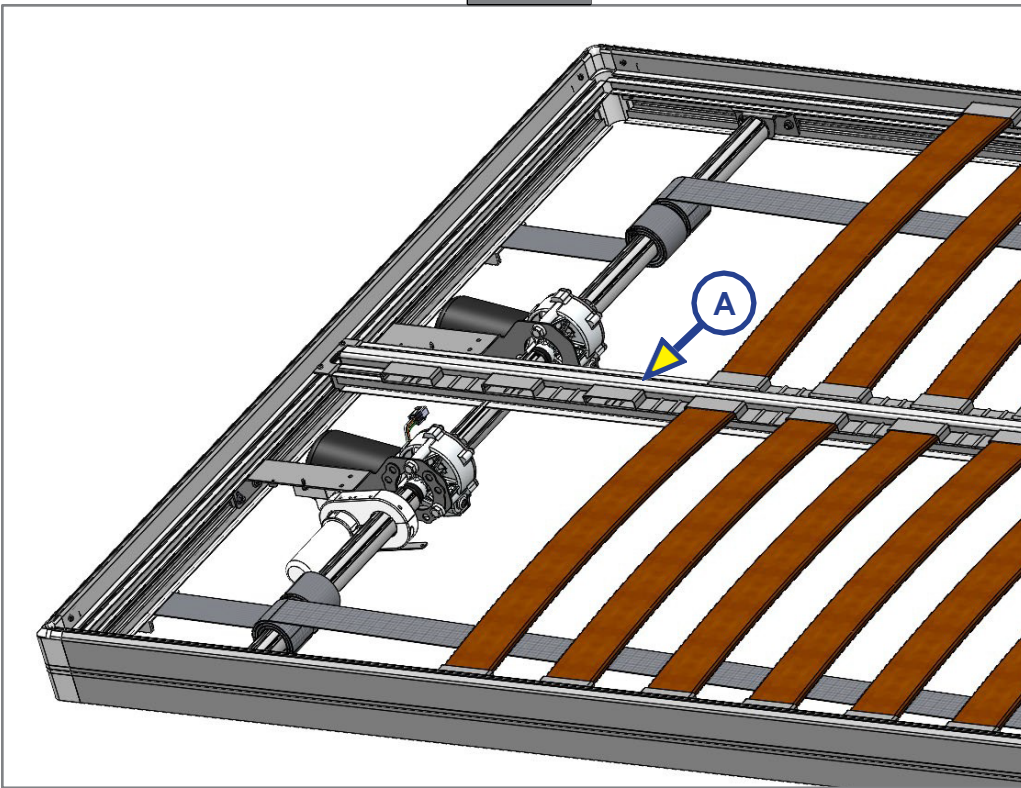

Fig. 13

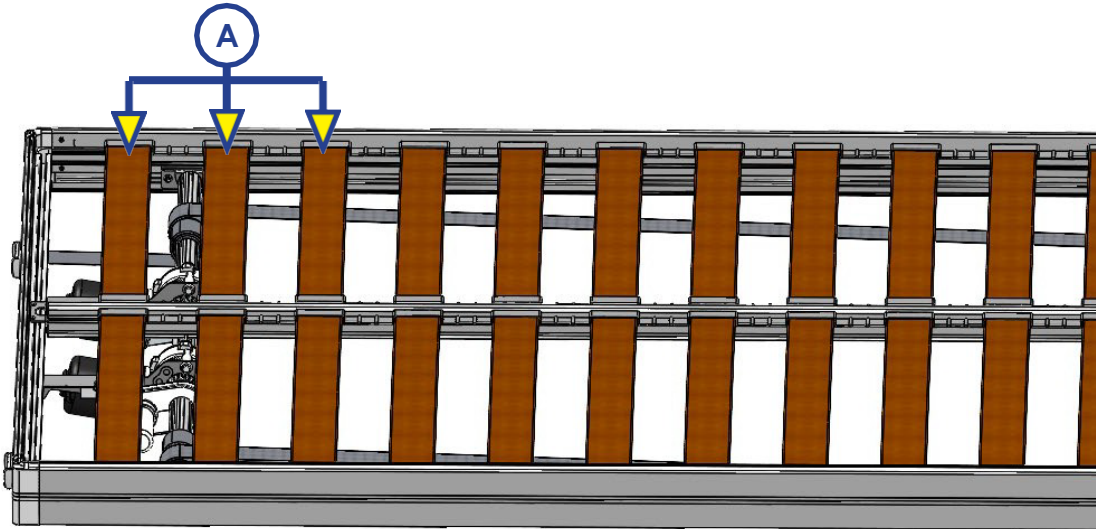

24. Verify that wiring is under the center bed frame mullion (Fig. 14A). Connect it using 10ga 3-position Wago or bell caps not provided in the kit (the 12ga Wago provided does not fit the 10ga wire Newmar runs to the bed).
25. Remove the backer from the tape on the motor controllers Fig. 15A) and secure them to the motor mount brackets (Fig. 15B).

Fig. 14

26. Reinstall the bed slats previously removed (Fig. 16A).

27. Test the operation of the bed lift and adjust the straps if necessary. To ensure the platform is even at each corner, measure from the ceiling to the top of the bed at all four corners.

NOTE: Use caution operating the bed lift, as the UP and DOWN stop positions will need to be programmed next.

Setting the ACS Stop Procedure

The use of power tools to perform the adjustments will damage the ACS module. Adjustments of the ACS module must be performed by hand using manual tools.

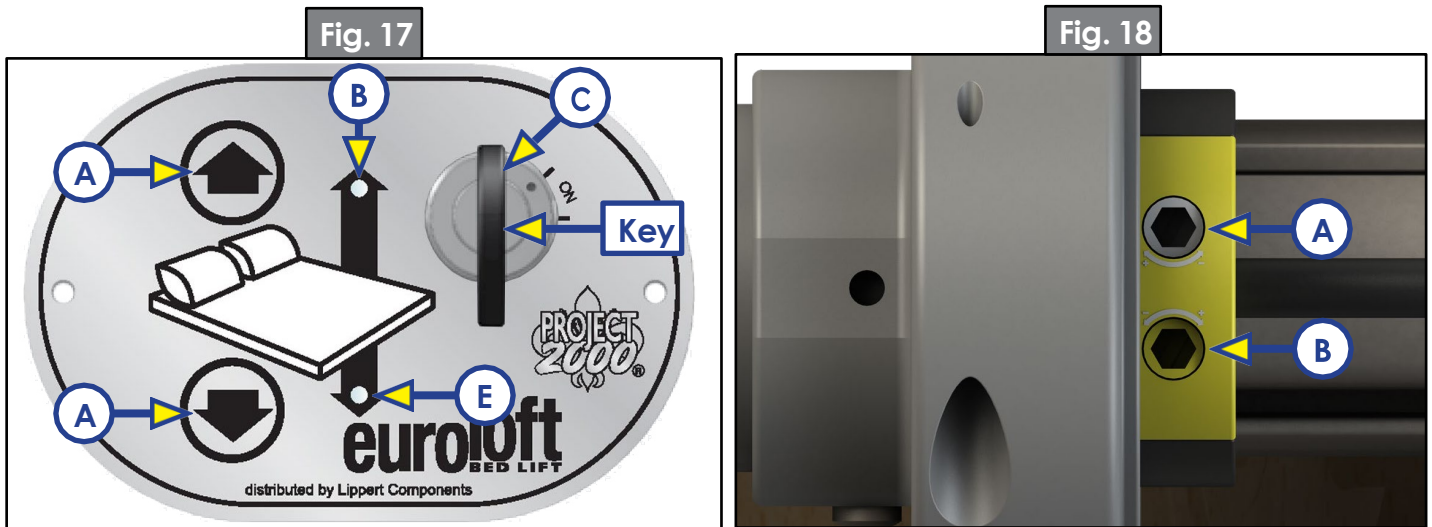

Setting the UP Position

1. If equipped, make sure the safety belts are unfastened.

2. Turn the key switch to the ON position (Fig. 17C) located on the keypad.
3. Press and hold the UP arrow-shaped button (Fig. 17A) on the keypad. A green LED light (Fig. 17B) on the keypad will turn on in the direction the bed is moving. The bed will keep moving until it reaches the pre-set stop position.
4. If the bed lift stops too low, turn the white screw (Fig. 18A) in the ACS module counterclockwise. This will allow the bed lift to move higher. If the bed lift stops too high, turn the white screw (Fig. 18A) clockwise until the bed lift stops lower.

NOTE: One full rotation of the screw is approximately one inch of movement up or down.

5. Press the UP arrow (Fig. 17A) and DOWN arrow (Fig. 15D) to run the bed lift system after each adjustment of the screw. If necessary, repeat this procedure until desired stop location is obtained.

Setting the DOWN Position

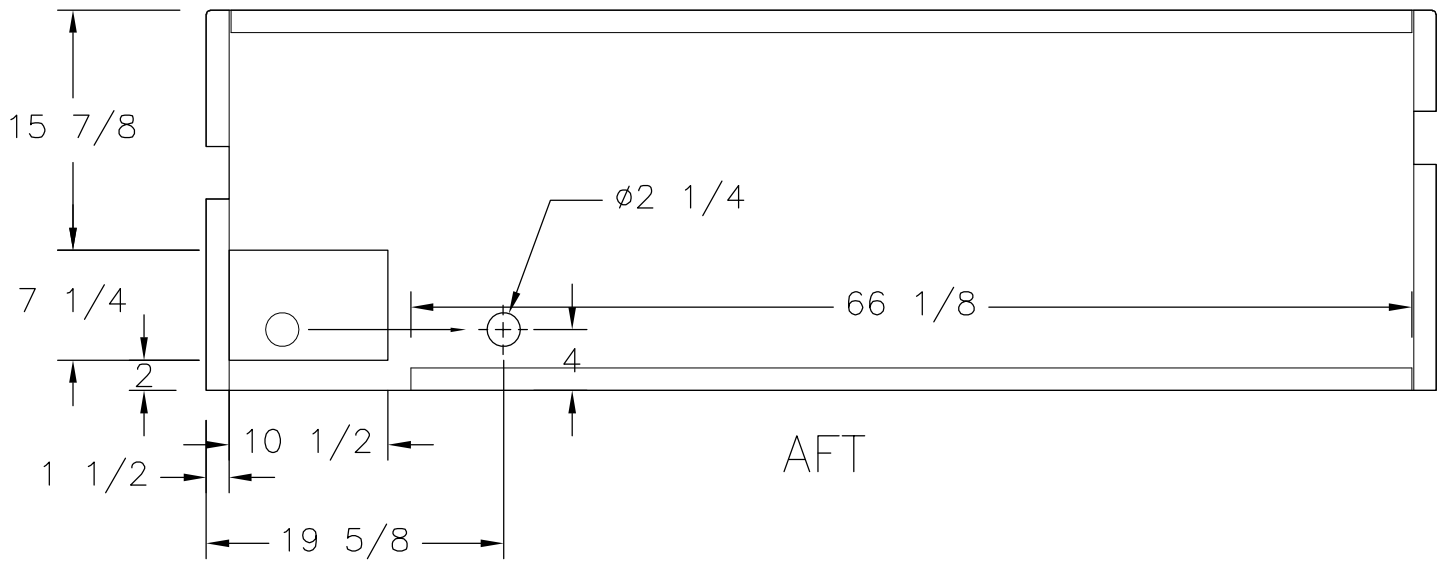

1. If equipped, make sure the safety belts are unfastened.
2. Turn the key switch to the ON position (Fig. 17C) located on the keypad.
3. Press and hold the DOWN arrow-shaped button (Fig. 17D) on the keypad. A green LED light (Fig. 17E) on the keypad will turn on in the direction the bed is moving. The bed will keep moving until it reaches the pre-set stop position.
4. If the bed lift stops too high, turn the yellow screw (Fig. 18B) counterclockwise. This will allow the bed lift to move lower. If the bed lift stops too low, turn the yellow screw (Fig. 18B) clockwise until the bed lift stops higher.

NOTE: One full rotation of the screw is approximately one inch of movement up or down.

5. Press the UP arrow (Fig. 17A) and DOWN arrow (Fig. 17D) to run the bed lift system after each adjustment of the screw. If necessary, repeat this procedure until the desired stop location is obtained.

Once the bed is fully adjusted, if the straps have excessive length of seat belt material at the ceiling brackets, they can be trimmed and the cut edge seared with a lighter to prevent fraying.
